In any industry or market, some companies do better than others. Strategic alignment is one of the key differences between organizations that perform well and those that don't. In fact, research shows that up to 80% of the differences between organizations' performance can be explained by their level of strategic alignment. Strategic alignment is, therefore,

Getting a 30,000-person organization to align to a new strategy is never easy. To do so mid-year rather than as part of the annual planning process and to do so in a couple of months, rather than the year or more most strategic-alignment efforts take, would make his challenge even tougher. But Kevin succeeded.

Models exist to align projects with organizational strategy. However, they are incomplete and lead to inaccurate results. The newly developed model presented in this paper resolves the gaps of former models by combining quantitative financials and qualitative strategic issues. The paper gives a simulated numerical case study using this tool to
